OYSTER TONGING SEASON TO OPEN IN MISSISSIPPI

Mississippi's oyster tonging season will open at sunrise Sept. 1, Chief Inspector George Williams of the marine conservation commission announced today.

The chief said that from all indications fishermen in the state will enjoy a raw oyster season this year comparable to the one of last season, which was one of the best in recent years.

ISSUE CHARTS

Williams stressed the necessity of oyster tongs this year getting licenses early in order to study charts which will be issued with licenses showing areas designated as restricted.

"This year due to the various restrictions imposed by the U. S. Public Health Service, and the State Board of Health, working in conjunction with the Mississippi Marine Conservation Commission, ordinances have been adopted regulating the catching of oysters."

"It would be wise for licensees to get their licenses early and familiarize themselves with new regulations that will be in effect," he stated.

RESTRICTED AREAS

The charts will be furnished to licensees so they can be "used for anyone catching oysters in an area considered unsafe." Oysters caught must be three miles long according to Chief Williams, who stated that this law

LABOR DAY WEEKEND PRESENTS SERIOUS TRAFFIC PROBLEM

Motorists are once again faced with one of the most dangerous holidays of the year so far as highway accidents are concerned — the Labor Day Weekend. Since 1955 thirty-six people have lost their lives in Mississippi on the Labor Day holidays. The worst years were 1955 and 1958. Eight people were killed each of those years. Only slightly better was 1957 with seven deaths. In the last two years there have been four deaths each.

In preparation for the forthcoming holiday weekend Commission of Public Safety T. B. Birdsong made a plea for safe driving, and released the following statement:

"In order not to repeat the unnecessary traffic fatalities of past years let us emphasize that it is vitally important for each motorist to drive carefully. Cooperate with your Highway Patrolmen and all other traffic enforcement officers, obey the law and observe the rules of the road. The Mississippi Patrol will have men on duty twenty-four hours a day during this holiday weekend to afford the maximum protection and assistance to drivers. We earnestly solicit your cooperation during the Labor Day weekend. Our traffic record so far this year indicates a saving of 86 lives over the same period last year. Let's make our good record better by using care and caution. Drive carefully and enjoy the holiday."

Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Burns and sons Timmy and Davy of New Orleans were weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Blanchard.

Mrs. Donald Faust and children Donna Maria and Joey of New Orleans are spending this week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Blanchard.

A coroner's jury empaneled by Coroner Piazza, returned a verdict of death by accidental drowning.

$13,289.00 AVAILABLE TO HELP HANCOCK COUNTY FARMERS

According to Tommy H. Shaw, Chairman of the Hancock Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, the 1962 Agricultural Conservation Program for Hancock County has been approved. The allotment of funds to help farmers carry out approved agricultural conservation practices beginning August 25, 1961 and ending December 31, 1961 is $13,289.00. Farmers should immediately study the conservation problems on their farms, and if financial help is needed to carry out practices, they should contact the ASCS county office at Bay St. Louis, Mississippi, and file their request for assistance in carrying out the approved practices. The same practices that were available in the county program in 1961 have been approved for the 1962 county program. Some of the most important practices used in this county are Establishment of a Vegetative Cover, Improvement of a Vegetative Cover, and Winter Cover Crop. The Federal Government will pay approximately 65% of the cost for carrying out approved practices.

Farmers are reminded that part of the cost will be borne by the Agricultural Conservation Program on approval practices only where the farmer has filed a request with the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service County office for help and a written approval was issued for the practices. For further details concerning approved practices and the amount of cost-sharing farmers should contact the ASCS county office at Bay St. Louis, Mississippi. The period for filing request under the program is from August 25, 1961 to September 8, 1961.

Some folks talk as though they want life to be a downhill race without obstacles.

But God, who made man in His own image, never meant it to be so. For the muscle becomes helpless which is never tensed; the mind grows dull which is never challenged. There is no courage without threat of battle.

This life was meant to be a succession of goals... each the more inspiring because of the hazards along the way. And who among us, worth his salt, would want life any different.

It is the uphill, the hazardous, course of courageous living that makes spiritual strength a must. You and I need the Church. We need the Church because we see divine as well as human purpose in our existence.

Life—as we live it—gains deeper meaning with each step of our need of God.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

SOUTH PULPWOOD BUSINESS SHOWS MARKED INCREASE

ATLANTA, Ga. — The South's pulp and paper manufacturing industry last year produced goods valued at a total of $4,336,000,000, according to figures contained in the 1961 (53rd annual) Blue Book of Southern Progress.

The output value of the industry amounted to approximately 5 per cent of the South's total of $79,364,000,000 for all manufacturing operations.

A further study of the Blue Book figures, which are based on data from the U. S. Census, shows that region's pulp and paper industry has enjoyed a steady growth trend for the past two decades.

The tabulation shows, for example, that in 1939 the value of the industry's output was only $318,000,000. The total soared to $1,443,000,000 in 1947 and had reached $2,968,000,000 by 1954.

Subsequent expansion in the productive capacity of the pulp and paper industry, coupled with a tremendous upsurge in the variety of demand for its products, brought the output value total to the $4,336 billion figure in 1960.

Currently, according to the Blue Book, there are 800 active establishments comprising the South's pulp and paper manufacturing industry, and these employ a total of 146,000 persons.

States covered by the Blue Book figures are Alabama, Arkansas, Florida, Georgia, Kentucky, Louisiana, Maryland, Mississippi, North Carolina, Oklahoma, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas, Virginia and West Virginia, as well as the District of Columbia.

Urges Safety Driving Motorists Over Heavy Labor Day Weekend

JACKSON, Miss. — The trucking industry has urged Mississippi motorists to join it in "Truck Lights On For Safety" campaign over the Labor Day weekend.

The campaign has been launched by the trucking industry nationwide to remind those on the highways to drive safely during the period of heavy holiday traffic.

Trucking fleets have been requested to instruct their drivers to keep their headlights burning day and night from 4 p.m. Friday (Sept. 1) to 8 a.m. Tuesday (Sept. 5), in an effort to reduce traffic accidents and fatalities.

"Last year Mississippi lost 4 people in traffic accidents during the Labor Day weekend. More words manipulated into safety slogans apparently are not enough to make holiday drivers conscious of their grave peril.

"As a result, the trucking industry, in cooperation with other safety organizations throughout the nation, will try a dramatic new approach to call the public's attention to the need for safe driving, the Truck Lights On For Safety campaign," West said.

Enthusiasm for our campaign is growing rapidly. It is now apparent that if the program can be effective with only trucks burning their headlights day and night, the campaign might be magnified tremendously by inviting all motorists to drive with their headlights burning too. Thus the burning headlight will be a symbol of a motorist's participation in the program and also serve as a constant reminder to others to drive safely," he said.

West gave these safe-driving tips that should be practiced along with keeping one's headlights burning:

1. Maintain an assured clear distance between you and the vehicle immediately preceding you on the highway.
2. Regulate your speed to conform to that of the general traffic pattern. Thus you won't be lagging, causing other traffic to pass you and it won't be necessary for you to pass others excessively.
3. If you find you must pass the vehicle ahead, make certain you have clear vision far enough ahead to assure safe passing. Allow yourself an extra margin.
4. Before starting your holiday trip, make sure your vehicle is in top running condition. Have your lights, tires, brakes, windshield wipers and other equipment thoroughly tested. Make any necessary repairs before you leave.
5. Know in advance where you are going. Familiarize yourself with turnoffs far in advance by checking for other intersecting routes or landmarks preceding your turnoff. Thus you will be prepared to signal your intentions well in advance to the driver following you. If you find you have missed your turn, drive on until you may safely pull off the highway to re-orientate yourself.

Make no sudden moves. They can be fatal!

Are your savings accumulating fast as you would like them?

One way to help them grow is to eliminate waste, and good place to start your war on waste is in the kitchen. It is estimated that the average American family throws away two pounds of food for each person each day. The money for this unused food would really be a nice beginning for a savings fund.

Take a look at your clothing. Here's another place where you can slip through your fingers in a number of ways: One of these is the misfit article. A coat or coat that doesn't go with anything else you have. Before planning next time can prevent duplications of such expensive purchases.

Check your clothing storage. You may be articles that with alterations could go to a new show. Get them ready to wear and save the money you have spent for another season. It'll come in mighty handy when you need clothes for a special occasion.

SEPTEMBER PLentiful

Turkeys top the September plentiful foods list. Other foods on the list are broiler-fryers, late summer vegetables and beef.

BRIGHTER ALUMINUM

Hard water and strong detergents can darken aluminum. But you can restore the lighter look by boiling 2 tablespoons of cream of tartar in 2 quarts of water in the pan or pot for about 20 minutes. Don't boil for more than 20 to 30 minutes because the solution can etch the aluminum. Empty, rinse and dry thoroughly.

Strong acid foods like tomato sauce and vinegar and soaking in a strong detergent solution may pit aluminum, so don't leave in the pan or pot over night or for a long period of time.

LITTLE THEATRE PERFORMERS DO EXCELLENT JOB

A cast of veteran as well as new performers on the Little Theatre stage did an excellent job in their respective roles "The Male Animal" which climaxed August 19 after playing before a full house for three nights.

Mayor John Scalfide, in the role of Joe Ferguson, onetime football player, his sister Mrs. Curtis Matherne as Cleopatra, Negro maid, in the home of Professor Tommy Turner, played by Jerry Kiefer; at Midwestern University, Mrs. Joseph Viguire, who played the role of his wife; Teddy Stechman college paper editor; Bob Hubbard, football hero; Capt. Harold Powell, Dean of the College, Mrs. Dick Ashman as the dean's wife; John Stern, college trustee; Marie Butterworth, in the role of his wife; Nita Kay Erwin as Patricia Stanley, young sister; Wayne Ladner, band leader; Phillip Scalfide, newspaper reporter; and Janet Crow and Irene Thomas as ma-jorettes, all gave a commendable performance.

The three act comedy was directed by Mrs. Charles Carter. Following Saturday night's performance the cast had a party at the Dunbar Avenue home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kiefer.

A cake in the shape of a fish, flanked by silver candelabra holding pale green tapers centered the dining room table. On the patio a cake in the shape of a Penguin adorned the table.

MISSISSIPPI MANUFACTURER DELIVERS 150 SCHOOL BUSES TO NEW YORK CITY FIRM

Jackson — This fall 86,000 New York City children will be riding to school daily in brand new buses manufactured in Mississippi. Officials of Childrens Bus Service visited Superior Coach Corporation's plant in Kosciusko to accept delivery of 150 "Commuter" type buses which will serve the schools in all five of New York's boroughs.

A number of these buses have been especially equipped to transport over 4500 handicapped children and 185 blind children to and from school. Childrens Bus Service operates a fleet of 540 school buses carrying enough children each day to fill Yankee Stadium twice.

J. H. Shields, President of Superior Coach Corporation, conducted Childrens Bus Service President, John Flannery, Jr., on an extensive tour of Kosciusko and Central Mississippi. According to Shields, "This is the largest single customer bus order ever filled by Superior Coach Corporation. The delivery of this order is doubly pleasant because Childrens Bus Service has been a Superior customer since 1935."

Officials of both companies were honored at a dinner in the Capital City by a group of Jackson business leaders. Caravans of these new buses are presently leaving Kosciusko in groups of twenty five on their way to New York City. It is highly significant to Mississippi's growth in the field of heavy industry that a New York firm has chosen Mississippi-made school buses exclusively for its fleet. Superior buses made at Kosciusko are carrying school children in every state in the Union. Similar commercial buses are in operation in dozens of foreign countries and throughout the United States.

Superior also has just completed at Kosciusko a record order of 860 buses manufactured for the U. S. Navy, Army and Air Force.

Mississippi Garden Flowers
Of the flowers that are grown in the average Mississippi garden, dozens contain poison; and this means that the habit of chewing on bit of a leaf or a stalk should be avoided. Children should be taught that it is dangerous to put leaves, stems, or berries of plants into their mouths. Also, plant bulbs should not be stored where children can get to them.
LET'S TALK MISSISSIPPI
Mississippi's State bird is the Mockingbird.

The only thing we can say is that fresh water fish have been hitting at their best the past week or two. Plenty have been caught at Pearl River and its tributaries. Among them catching them were Wop Glover, August they are striking late in the evening. Top baits are being used mostly, also top surface plugs

FISHERMEN BAG
2-HEADED SNAKE

JACKSON, Tenn. — A snake with two well-developed heads was captured alive near here Saturday and State Game and Fish Commission authorities believe it is the first such specimen ever taken anywhere.

Claude Rains of the commission identified the seven inch snake as a diamond-back watersnake, nonpoisonous but vicious.

He said the snake, probably less than two month old, had fully developed heads with two eyes and one mouth each and each head was equipped with a quick-darting tongue. He said one head apparently rests or sleeps while the other is awake.

The snake was captured by Conrad Smith of Jackson and his two sons, Mike and Larry, while on a fishing trip at Lock Creek off Kentucky Lake.

GARS REFUSE HEARING IS POSTPONED

According to the Times-Picayune the Louisiana wildlife and fisheries commission announced the postponement of a hearing set for today on the proposed compensation settlement in the Ward-McIlhenny heirs case covering mineral rights to the 15,000-acre wildlife refuge in Vermillion parish.

The postponement was made at the request of both opponents and proponents of the action, according to E. R. McDonald, Sr., commission chairman.

Wildlife attorneys had recommended a compromise settlement of the case brought by the heirs after studying the issue for more than three years, McDonald said.

All local fishermen as well as in Louisiana and other states know what the gar means to destroying fish. This articles is taken from the Times-Picayune of this week and is worth reading by all fishermen.

The gar is an outlaw fish that fearlessly attacks game fish, water birds, and even people.

A living fossil, the gar is a member of an ancient group of fishes that lived 300 million years ago, the National Geographic Society says. Its armor-plated scales can turn the sharpest knife. Indians used them as arrowheads. American pioneers shielded their wooden plows with the scaly skin before steel became plentiful.

With slow, stealthy movements the gar hunts its prey. It strikes from the side with lightning speed, seizing its victim in long jaws filled with sawlike teeth.

HUGE SIZE

Some species of gar are found as far north as Canada, but most prefer warmer waters in Southern United States. Tales of gars growing 20 feet long and weighing thousands of pounds circulate outside of the bayou country, but such leviathans apparently always get away. No one has proved their existence.

The alligator gar, however, surpasses 10 feet and weighs 300 pounds. It flourishes in both the clear lakes of the Ozark mountains and the brackish inlets near the Gulf of Mexico.

A full-grown gar has no natural enemies. Hence several can clear an area of its normal fish population. Their voracious habits develop at an early age. A gar only two inches long was found to have dined on 16 tiny minnows.

The gar is not a food fish, but it is eaten on occasion. When smoked and barbecued over a pit fire the flesh has been described as "white, well flavored and wholesome."

Most fishermen who hunt the gar do so for sport. A big gar is a tough and dangerous opponent.
When hooked and drawn alongside a boat, it is usually dispatched with a bullet through the head, for nothing else can penetrate the protective scales and bones.

OUTLAWED, TRAPPED

Some states recognize the gar as a pest and have sought to control it by laws, traps, and electricity. All gars taken in Louisiana must be killed, and those over a foot long must be split open to be certain they don't survive.

Trapping has proved effective in controlling small gars on limited areas. Entering traps through funnel doors from which there is no escape, as many as 20 have been caught in one night.

Experiments in gar control have been made with 36-ampere shock apparatus, stretched across barrows or mounted on a barge.

Curiously, a shock that would only stun most fish will kill the ferocious gar by paralyzing its primitive organs.

Gars serve much the same function in fresh water as sharks do in the sea. They are not finnicky eaters and often are near sugars.

Like sharks, gars have been known to attack people. One bit the leg of a young girl as she waded in the edge of Lake Pont-chartrain in Louisiana. Hearing her cries, the girl's brother ran to her aid and frightened the gar away. Its estimated length—seven feet.

Carry Back who won the Neptune Purse at Atlantic City Saturday, son of Soggy Joppy, should change his name to "Carry On"
the way he handle the older horses.

Wop Glover and the missus will be over this week for a well earned vacation. Wop is ready for all kinds of crabbing, fishing, etc.
Sorry the quail season is not open. Wop is an expert at this sport and has some real bird dogs

Don't know what's wrong with the specks. No report on catches.
Cooler weather must be needed them in.
